

You Can Help The Wellness Community Reach Out to the St. Louis Medical Community!

The Ambassador Volunteer Program

Four times per year, The Wellness Community publishes and distributes a calendar about our free programs and events so that cancer patients and the medical community are updated on our activities. Ambassadors help us save money on postage and increase awareness in the medical community by personally delivering calendars to medical facilities in the metropolitan area and interfacing with front office staff on a monthly basis.

What is Involved?

Ambassadors need to be friendly, well-spoken and informed about The Wellness Community. Ambassadors also need a car and the ability to carry roughly a 10 lb. box of calendar packets. We will provide you with a list of places to deliver the calendar packets. We would ask you to commit to delivering calendars to five local medical offices monthly.

A one hour training session about the services offered by The Wellness Community is required before one can volunteer. Thank you! You make the difference in getting the word out to the local community!

Call us at 314-238-2000 or go to www.wellnesscommunitystl.org for a volunteer application and job description.
